

SLOPE

Mr. Poff told a very detailed ski trip story to explain the four types of slopes (positive, negative, zero, and undefined). In order to complete this assignment, you will create your very own story that helps illustrate each type of slope. Your assignment must contain the following:

1. Students must create a picture with a character that represents their story and represents the four types of slopes. I recommend using technology (there are many free software applications available to you) to create your picture, but you can hand draw it as well.
2. Students must have an attention-grabbing, detailed written story to help illustrate the four types of slopes.
3. Stories must be neatly illustrated through design, including color.
4. All parts of this assignment must fit on an 8.5" x 11" sheet of paper (standard sheet of printer paper).

See Mr. Poff's website for more information
